

NEW YORK IS NOT STARTLED BY THEM

Bryan's Views of Government Ownership of Railroads Not Unfavorably Received.

WALL STREET CALM OVER IT

But Not a Few Southern Men, Favoring Abolishment of Separate Cars, Oppose.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—The actual, the virtual, the real, the capital of the South, has not been startled by the news that Bryan, in his speech at Madison Square, Thursday night, had said that he was in favor of government ownership of railroads. The capital of the South, however, is not so much startled by the news as it is by the fact that Bryan, in his speech, had said that he was in favor of the abolition of separate cars. The capital of the South, however, is not so much startled by the news as it is by the fact that Bryan, in his speech, had said that he was in favor of the abolition of separate cars.

It is a striking fact that New York has been startled by the news that Bryan, in his speech, had said that he was in favor of the abolition of separate cars. The capital of the South, however, is not so much startled by the news as it is by the fact that Bryan, in his speech, had said that he was in favor of the abolition of separate cars.

The Southern View. Abolitionists had been expecting to hear Bryan's views on the subject of government ownership of railroads. The capital of the South, however, is not so much startled by the news as it is by the fact that Bryan, in his speech, had said that he was in favor of the abolition of separate cars.

I would be perfectly willing to let the people of the South decide for themselves whether they want government ownership of railroads. The capital of the South, however, is not so much startled by the news as it is by the fact that Bryan, in his speech, had said that he was in favor of the abolition of separate cars.

Willing to Have a Trial. I am perfectly willing to let the people of the South decide for themselves whether they want government ownership of railroads. The capital of the South, however, is not so much startled by the news as it is by the fact that Bryan, in his speech, had said that he was in favor of the abolition of separate cars.

New York Is Not Scared. It is a striking fact that New York has been startled by the news that Bryan, in his speech, had said that he was in favor of the abolition of separate cars. The capital of the South, however, is not so much startled by the news as it is by the fact that Bryan, in his speech, had said that he was in favor of the abolition of separate cars.

Wall Street Prefers Bryan. It is a striking fact that New York has been startled by the news that Bryan, in his speech, had said that he was in favor of the abolition of separate cars. The capital of the South, however, is not so much startled by the news as it is by the fact that Bryan, in his speech, had said that he was in favor of the abolition of separate cars.

Discord in Rockbridge. Republican Meetings Lacking in Harmony. It is a striking fact that New York has been startled by the news that Bryan, in his speech, had said that he was in favor of the abolition of separate cars. The capital of the South, however, is not so much startled by the news as it is by the fact that Bryan, in his speech, had said that he was in favor of the abolition of separate cars.

MR. BOOHER ENJOINED FROM PREACHING TO DAY. It is a striking fact that New York has been startled by the news that Bryan, in his speech, had said that he was in favor of the abolition of separate cars. The capital of the South, however, is not so much startled by the news as it is by the fact that Bryan, in his speech, had said that he was in favor of the abolition of separate cars.
